HE "TREATY PORTS OF CHIN. & JAPAN," AND "NOTES AND QUERIES ON CHINA AND JAPAN.

EXTRACTS FROM REVIEWS. From the "Fr end of India," June 4, 1868. We acknowledge with thanks the receipt f the numbers for the current year of "Notes and Queries," a most deserving Anglo-Chinese monthly, edited by Mr N. B. Dennys, whose "Treaty Ports of China and Japan" are so well known. From th names attached to the "Notes" we can sethat the contributors include some of the best Chinese scholars in the East. Its interest is not confined to China, and it wil be of valuable assistance to all scholars, who have directed their attention towards the subject of Buddhism and its literature, and generally to all who are interested in oriental antiquities. It deserves to be better Per "SUNDA," on Wednesday, the known in India. (From the "Straits Times," July 27, 1868.) Some time ago we had occasion to remark upon the progress that Literature as represented by the Press had made and was making in the East, and our attention has again been called to the subject by the receipt of a Hongkong publication which deserves some notice and which we have much pleasure in introducing to the knowledge of our readers. We allude to Notes and Queries on hing and Japan, published monthly by Mr Saint, the proprietor of the Ching Mail newspaper. This publication | Steam-ship Company, for the Conveyance is well printed on good paper, and in size of Mails once a Month between Cevlon and and shape is very like its well-known name- | Mauritius, and between Mauritius and sake or prototype at home, and is equally a Natal, having terminated, the corresponmine containing very curious and useful dence for Mauritius will be forwarded from information regarding the language, literature, history, manners and customs of the Chinese and in a less degree of the Japanese. It says a good deal for the extent and stability of the footing of Europeans in China, that such a publication as this should be established and conducted with apparently successful vigour. The publication is altogether a very interesting one, and wishing it every success. we commend it to the attention and support of our readers (From the "London Examiner," May · 16, 1868.) This really useful volume ["Treaty Ports China and Japan "] is intended as a guide for travellers and residents in China and Japan, and as a book of reference for mercantile men generally. It contains an account, historical and political, of all the open ports of these countries, together with Peking, Yedo, Hongkong, and Macao. has been carefully compiled and edited by Mr N. B. Dennys; and the elaborate maps and plans, with which the work abounds, considerably enhance its value. * * * We have thus given in outline some of the nigre prominent portions of the chapter devoted to Canton, as a specimen of the whole volume. Other chapters treating of Macao, Formosa, Ningpo, Shanghae, and the remainder of the treaty ports, we can only enumerate. The pages describing Peking, the capital, are so interesting, and contain so much that is new to European readers respecting its history, public buildings, and general characteristics, that we would fain transfer them to our columns. A complete and intelligible plan of the Imperial City and neighbourhood, gives us an

The descriptions of Nagasaki, Yedo, Yokohama, and the other Treaty Ports of Japan, are as elaborate and entertaining as those of the Chinese ports. undoubted, it must not be forgotten that the capture of Canton in 1857 put an end to the system previously pursued and completely altered the relations existing between His Excellency the Governor of Hongkong and the open ports of China, the Superintendency of Trade being transfered from this Colony to Peking. In 1855 the Governor of Hongkong exercised a positive jurisdiction over the ports which has no longer any existence, although the act of Parliament empowering him to frame regulations regarding certain matters has never been abrogated. While therefore his powers are undoubted, it is very questionable whether he can enforce any new regulations save by the voluntary assistance of Her Majesty's Consul and the Chinese authorities, a state of affairs which might be easily remedied by a supplementary act if it were worth while. We allude to this however rather as a matter of speculative curiosity, than as attaching any great importance to possible difficulties which might arise. But the apliar interest from another point of view.

But a few days since we received intelligence, apparently based on fact, that the coolie emigration from Amoy had received a fresh impetus by means of a plan so artfully devised that the hands of Her Majesty's officials would be com; pletely tied in attempting any control of possible abuses. Coolies are now, it is stated, taken to Manila as "free" passen-

She thought up to the time of totality at 8.55 A.M., the sun was never totally obscured. Some times for an instant, it would shoot out clearly between a rent in the clouds, but during the greater portion of the time, it was thinly veiled by light drifting clouds, which kept following each other with all the regularity of waves of ocean. These thin watery clouds rendered the use of stained glass unecessary, for the sun shone as calmly and clearly through them, and was as distinctly visible as a waning moon in a starry sky. When the colipse was almost total, and only the last remnant of the sun's face remained, a slight break in the clouds allowed it to burst forth, and then it just looked like a blazing scimitar quivering in some unseen hand. But it was only for a moment, and as it quivered it disappeared behind the mighty shadow. It was not for some considerable time after contact took place that any observable difference was noticed in the light of the morning, indeed not until the sun was half obscured, was the darkness felt advancing from the west. The author shows that gunpowder was known to the Arabs long before the time of the legendary Berthold Schwartz, About 1285 Nedjin-Eddin-Hassau-Alcammah describes pyrotechnical mixture composed of saltpetre, brinstone, and charcoal, which, he states, was known both to his grandfather and father, consequently at least 40 years before the date of the MS. The latter is illustrated with diagrams of the madfas, a sort of wooden mortar, as wide as it was deep, into which the mixture was rammed. for the purpose of projecting balls (bonded) or bolts. Let the shooter be on his guard!" adds the writer. The madfas was provided with a handle, and must therefore liave been a portable weapon. Among Alrammah's recipes there is the following: -"Take ten drachms of saltpetre, two draching of charcoal, one and a half of sulphur Make these up into a fine powder. with which fill one-toird of the madfas but no more, for otherwise it might burst. The word bondoo originally meant a hazlenut; in the tenth century it had already acquired the meaning of a ball to be shot from a cross-bow, and it now means a musket or pistol. Another contrivance mentioned by Alrammah is an iron lance or arrow, with a hole drilled lengthwise into the shaft, and filled with gunpowder. The first mention of this substance in the Chinese annals occurs in 1259 under the Son dynasty. Albertus Magnus and Roger Bacon (1230-1294) seem not to have been aware of the projectile power of gunpowder, but only of its explosive quality.
